No microtransactions. Roblox does not have any in-game purchases or microtransactions, meaning that you can play as much as you want without worrying about being charged each time. This works very well as the developers have a different way to monetize their system - which we'll discuss further on into this review.

Although the app is designed for ROBLOX users to chat and connect further outside of the website, it also has additional features similar to those available on ROBLOX: users can play games together through group chat, use images and video to communicate with their friends, and create customized avatars for themselves.

On September 1, 2017, the game "Build a House, Build a Life" was unveiled. It was released on November 6, 2017. "Build a House, Build a Life" allows players to build their own dream house in the game with their own furniture and items.

On July 19, 2018, ROBLOX launched a new mobile app called ROBLOX Mini. It is aimed towards kids below the age of 6 years old. It allows players to play mini games as well as create items for their mini-game and have a catalog of characters to dress up as.[50]

Roblox cannot afford to go down the path of Farmville. They need to remain an open source program for everyone, where people can come together as equals and play fun games without being forced to pay money to be able to continue having fun within their virtual world. People who think they can't afford to pay should just get used to not having an ROBLOX account because that's what's happening. People are being kicked off the server by player banning.
